...asking intelligent questions

diagnosticIQ - pain assessment tools, asking better questions for more effective treatments.

Quantitative answers for qualitative questions are never simple to ascertain...

The solution is smart and in-depth...

By asking better questions, staying with it patiently, watching for progress... asking again... and eventually a picture begins to appear. How is the patient functioning? What are the psychological effects of the treatment? Is dependency a problem? Etc...

With the ACA enacted in 2014, outcome studies and evidence based medicine will be required by 2017.
